

“Communities need to recycle”

Do you want to live in a peace or in a dump? I strongly agree recycling is crucial for communities everywhere. Every living thing in the world is relying on us to make a difference. The more we become aware of recycling the more we can do save the environment and communities everywhere.

The more paper we recycle the less trees need to be cut down. 75% of each tree that is cut down is being used for paper. Trees are very important to the environment because they provide us with oxygen.

Recycling is great for the environment and helps communities save money and resources. Buying and growing things locally also helps. Each family can make a difference by recycling fruit and vegetable scrapes, glass bottles and cans at home. The more people who recycle the better it is for the community in general.

The more communities recycle the more beautiful things they have to look at like trees, flowers, gardens and lakes. I would rather look at these than rubbish dumps and landfills.

I believe it is important to recycle so we can all make the community and the planet a greener and more peaceful for now and in the future. I would rather enjoy nature and its beauty than at rubbish dumps.
